THE HERALD.

AN improvement in the size and appearance of THE HERALD was promised some time ago, but everything conspired against us and we have been unable to fulfill our promise till now. This issue does not by any means represent the standard of excellence which we hope to attain; we will improve on it from week to week and perhaps in the course of time THE HERALD will merit a place in every household in the district.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The editor telegraphs from Montreal to his paper that "Mr. Blake was cheered and applauded to the echo." Goodness! what a crowd of people the Macleod citizens must be! Dr. Lafferty will be getting jealous of his silver tongue "deputation" if this comes on.

The imported Grit Stumper said the other night that the Reform party had an alternative policy on every question affecting the Northwest. Yes, and he occupied almost three hours in enunciating it—and every word was fault-finding and slander. "Rule or ruin" is the alternative policy of the Grits.

Benton River Press: It is believed that D. W. Davis will be elected to the Canadian Commons from Alberta, although Hon. Strange and Richard Hardisty are his conpetitors. Hon. Strange is running Independent. Hardisty is really a representative of the Hudson's Bay Co., who have done much in the past to retard the growth of the country. He is at present chief factor at Edmonton.

From the manner in which Mr. Grit Organizer Preston exhibited his hoodle at the meeting Wednesday night it can be pretty accurately surmised what methods that gentleman really intends to pursue up here. We will have occasion in a day or two to explain what the men whom Mr. Preston brought with him have been doing in the electioneering line. They have been watched.

Mr. Preston told what our classic contemporary calls "a bald-headed lie" Wednesday night, when he said the number of homestead entries in the Northwest during 1885 was 81. Why in the Calgary land office alone 280 entries were made, only twelve of which were cancelled and even these 12 were re-entered by bona fide settlers. Several other statements made by the same clerical looking gentleman, in fact his whole speech obtained about the same proportion of truth as that statement. Appearances are often deceptive.

Mr. Preston's sentimental gush about the "serene souled" and immaculate Edward Blake fell flat on the meeting Wednesday night. It was not necessary for Mr. Preston to tell us that Mr. Blake did not open his mouth in Quebec on the Riel question. That was not his lay. He tried to appease Ontario by his voice and presence while his unholy allies worked Quebec. Mr. Preston gave way an important fact when he stated that Quebec Rielites had given assurances that they were supporters of Mr. Blake. Yet that "serene souled" gentleman disclaims responsibility for the Riel agitation, whereas in fact he was the boss agitator.

Mr. Preston discounted the intelligence of the electors very largely when he told them the other evening that the day after the general elections it was said of the people of Manitoba that they were satisfied with disallowance. Mr. Preston knows quite well the four Conservatives elected in Manitoba were pledged to oppose disallowance and he knows further that a few days after the election a Conservative deputation waited on Hon. Mr. White, who said he believed the time had come when the C.P.R. would not insist on their rights in this matter. This is a sure indication that the Government are pleased with Manitoba and will do everything possible to relieve her. Alberta electors will not be slow to see the moral there is in this.

Toronto Telegram: The gains made by the Reform party were chiefly in Quebec. The reason is not difficult to find. The Reform leader and the Reform organ took up the Riel cry and echoed it far and wide, and it is to this that they are indebted for coming so near to winning the victory. Even in Ontario the gains they made were owing to the Rielite vote being thrown on their side in those constituencies in which the French were a factor. Among the Reformers in Ontario there are many who would prefer that their party should remain out of power for all time than that they should hold office by grace of the Rielites of Quebec.

A HARD WINTER.

There is not much occasion for rejoicing among stockmen at the present time of writing. The outlook is too uncertain as the most critical period in the lives of range stock has not passed yet. Of the losses at various periods during the year, those at calving time are the greatest. Of course, when losses are small in the winter they may be expected to be small in calving time, because when cattle have a favorable winter they go into the spring fat and strong. But this has not been a favorable winter, in fact it has been the worst we have had for five years, and there is no use denying that it has been very hard on stock, especially the large bands which were driven in late last fall. Among these the mortality will be large. Of the old accustomed range cattle there is nothing certain at present, except that they have drifted tremendously; but this is a sure sign that they have kept rustling and will probably show up better in the round up than close herded cattle. As far as can be learned the small ranchers will be the heaviest losers, as they put all their spare capital into hay last fall, but in many cases only put up enough stacks to feed for six weeks, or two months, and consequently the cattle have been dying in the corrals. In such cases the loss to the stockmen is very severe, if not ruinous. Of course this is no argument against the safety and advantage of small ranching, as it was not the feed which caused the losses but the lack of a sufficient quantity of it. Our settlers must learn that stock raising, like farming, demands eternal vigilance and industry. The present system, which is nothing more than a game of chance, must give way to one which will be characterized by intelligent industry.

Nevertheless the rancher is constitutionally a gambler, and even now there are very few kickers. The wheel has not turned lucky for them, but they will stay with it. They calculate, and reasonably so, that there will not be another bad winter for four or five years, and before that time their loss of 25 per cent. or so this winter will be wiped out, and there will be a big margin to the good. On the strength of this reasoning it is thought that there will be more men handling stock in the district this year than ever before.

GOD HELP POOR CANADA.

In a letter "to a friend," a most moral and model letter by the way, written solely to be read on the platform, Hon. Edward Blake a few days before the election, after repudiating with regular platform scorn some improper suggestion some improper voters had made to him concluded with the words: GOD HELP POOR CANADA.

If we were inclined to be blasphemous we might say that God has helped poor Canada recently in a most effectual way but a most unplesant one for Mr. Blake and his friends. It will now be in order for someone to pray for the Northwest which is about to be made the field for the villainous operations of certain Grit Rielites who have come up here for the express purpose of stirring up dissension between the Halfbreeds and the Whites in Saskatchewan and Alberta on the Riel question.

In Alberta they support Dr. Lafferty, in Saskatchewan they support Laird. They are to get up on the platform and "twist" the Halfbreed vote over to the Grit candidates, luckily the Halfbreeds and Whites are too friendly in the Northwest to fight over the matter, but we can imagine the satisfaction of these Grit orators if they could leave behind them here such dissensions as would result in bloodshed before the summer was over. Cutthroats and incendiaries that these so-called orators are, if the Northwest did its duty it would chase them back to their native east in especially short order. It will do the next best thing, however, in sending 4 Conservative members to parliament on Tuesday next. If anyone wants to know why the Grits are so anxious to break the solid Conservative platform from the Northwest let him remember a moment. It is not because the Government has been defeated in the House of Commons, nor is it because they wish to equalize more the parties in the House. The reason is the incendiary one that by capturing the Northwest or a part of it they may hold the Quebec Nationalist vote solid. The moral effect of getting Saskatchewan and Northern Alberta to send opponents of the Government to parliament would be very great. It would almost justify the Nationalists if the scene of the rebellion supported their views. That is why the firebrands have come up. Not because they love us but because they want to make tools of us; because they know that if the Northwest goes solid for the Government the Nationalist party in Quebec would not have a leg to stand upon.

GRIT POLITICS UP NORTH.

Dr. Lafferty has evidently reached Edmonton, as his letter, "Our own Correspondent," in last night's Tribune abundantly shows. That Dr. Lafferty wrote the letter himself may be easily seen by anyone who examines it closely. No one need blame him for that, nor for the extremely complimentary way in which he writes of himself. He is fighting a perfectly hopeless game and he knows it; it is not, therefore, for Conservatives to find fault with him.

We are glad to hear from the Dr. that he held "a rousing meeting." We are sorry he had to make the regretful confession that "had it been known a few weeks earlier that so was in the field he would have polled the whole northern vote. It will be in order for him presently to claim the usual moral victory, but he is probably right to this extent that he might have had Oliver's support if he had been in the field earlier. As it is, the letter plainly shows that the whole Northern vote has already been pledged to Hardisty and Davis, and that the worthy Doctor will obtain a very slight support indeed.

The Doctor's references to Mr. Davis are slightly malicious, but are a free confession of the Conservative candidate's strength in the north. The story of the seizure of Mr. Davis' permits, however, goes further. It is a deliberate lie and we believe it was concocted in the Tribune office; it is not the first time the Tribune has done that sort of thing, and we believe Dr. Lafferty had nothing to do with the concoction of the falsehood.

Dr. Lafferty says "the people look upon it that they have been duped by the Government and the Conservative party." We think ourselves that the Grits of Edmonton have been duped. But by whom? Certainly not by the Conservatives, who held an open public convention and invited the Edmonton Conservatives repeatedly to join in with them. No, the people who duped the Edmonton Grits were a small Lafferty section of the Calgary Grit Association. It was Grits duping Grits after all, a matter of particularly small concern to loyal Alberta voters.

Dr. Lafferty adds, "The man they really wanted was Oliver." Perfectly true. That is what has treated the split in the Grit ranks. It was Oliver they wanted and not Lafferty, they never did want Lafferty and do not want him now, and the fact that Lafferty has not been able to obtain Oliver's support is proof sufficient that the Edmonton Grits will not support the Lafferty clique.

The Doctor is amused at a dance lately held at the Blind Man, where Mr. Davis, with his usual happy facility for helping people to enjoy themselves, made themselves agreeable. He seems to have even kissed the babies. Probably he should have given them pills instead.

Finally, the Doctor adds that he is going to head the poll at Edmonton. He is the third candidate we have heard of who is going to do that.

CANADIAN NOTES.

Much interest is taken in official circles in the attempt of Mr. McArthur, of Winnipeg, to reach the North Pole.

St. Bartholomew's Reformed Episcopal church in Montreal is richer by a donation of $5,000 given anonymously.

A young girl named Anna Carrier, residing in St. Henri, poisoned herself by taking a dose of Paris green.

Ottawa is being urged as the site of the new Art and Science school which the Ontario Government intends establishing.

The first attack of the Montreal Roman Catholic Temperance League will be upon taverns, and more especially upon the Sunday liquor traffic.

Mr. Davis was driving on John street, Hamilton, when a few women ran into and knocked him down. He was only slightly injured.

POLITICS KAMPANT

A MOST ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING IN BOYNTON HALL.

Mr. Preston told many wise words about the country.

Hearty cheer and Jackson made him the laughing stock.

Mr. Preston, the Grit organizer, gave the citizens an enjoyable time Wednesday night. It was the most lively meeting that has been held during the campaign and the manifestations of sympathy were overwhelmingly in favor of Mr. Davis and his able representative, Mr. Bleeker. Mr. Preston, it is said, was previous to the meeting, quietly exulting in the idea that he would have things his own way at the meeting—that there was no one in the new Northwest who could hold a candle to him on the stump. He has changed his mind since and with good reason for both Mr. Bleeker and Mr. Jackson totally eclipsed him in oratory, in brilliancy and in facts. Mr. Preston's deep voice might be very terrible in a down-east crossroads meeting, but when an entire stranger resumed to speak to Nor'-westers of things which they know all about and of which he knew nothing his stentorian tones only emphasized his simplicity. But it was only in regard to Northwest matters that he manifested any simplicity. In the use of Grit subterfuge and campaign lies he proved himself an expert and finished politician. It was a surprise to his friends to hear him make certain statements and more than one Grit felt that he might better have remained in the effects east. Mr. Bleeker never did a more loyal act than in standing up last night and repudiating the attacks made on the Northwest and especially Calgary district by this imported Grit demagogue. Mr. Bleeker told Mr. Preston the truth when he said we were happy and prosperous and owed everything to Sir John's Government. The meeting, though enthusiastic, was orderly and good-natured, excepting one or two Grit disturbers who frequently interrupted Messrs. Bleeker and Jackson. One of them was at last removed by the police and order reigned thereafter. Mr. Martin filled the chair in a manner satisfactory to his friends and not distasteful to the Conservatives.

MR. PRESTON

spoke first for almost an hour. He based his strongest claim why the Calgary electors should vote Grit on the fact the Government have called for tenders for the construction of the Bow River bridge and he wanted to know why the Government had not shown their determination to build it before. In regard to patents he believed the Government had been negligent in granting them and the settlers should let their voices be heard emphatically on polling day in protest against the Government. If they voted for the Government candidate they admitted they had no claims. The Government had lots of time to grant timber limits, coal areas and ranch leases to their friends, but they had no time to learn the facts regarding the troubles in this country. (He then proceeded to make statements in regard to the amount of settlement in the Northwest which were not only false but calculated to injure the country in the immigration fields which are just now being opened up. A more diabolical speech was never uttered in the Northwest.) He said the Government had failed to bring about prosperity in the Northwest and appealed to his hearers to say to the people of the east that this country was not fit to settle in. The best evidence of a desirable country to settle in was a happy and contented people. Are you happy and contented? he asked. (Several voices—"Yes," "you bet.") He said Calgary was the most favored spot in the Northwest, not even excepting Winnipeg; there were not better prospects anywhere, but unless they voted Grit they would be ruined. He said there were 1,112,700 acres of land granted (or leases which had not a head of stock on them, Hon. Mr. White had promised to have two townships of the Cechrane lease thrown open but had not done so. It was for the electors to say whether the Government was worthy of their confidence. Referring at length to the development of the Northwest he stated that in 1885 the number of entries was 81, as against 16,000 in 1882, and he went on to paint dark pictures of deserted homesteads which exist only in his imagination. He said the population had decreased in the Northwest. It was preposterous for the Government to say that things were prospering in the Northwest. In 1884 the estimated population of Manitoba was 125,000. In 1886 he was told by a person whom he supposed had seen the census returns which have not yet been published that the population was only 97,000 at 95,000. (Laughter.) He said Hon. Edward Blake had kicked all the way through against the building of the C.P.R. and was still kicking. Look at the

Mr. Preston said sternly, and he was not alone in the country by building his railway which would grind the settlers to death. These predictions, Mr. Preston continued, had been fulfilled. The country was ruined, the settlers were crushed and the C. P. R. was growing fat on freight and passenger rates four, five, ten and sometimes fifteen times as high as were paid in the east. He then told how Hon. W. J. Blake and the Reformers of Eastern Canada were anxious to tear the burden of the people of the Northwest, and to secure some taxation. The Conservatives had provided a prosperous Northwest, and the people here were paying for these false predictions (groans and laughter). On the question of disallowance he said the Conservative candidate had taken the ground that there should be no disallowance. He did not believe that the C. P. R. would force their rights in the north, but if the people wanted them to, they must send an opponent of the Government to Ottawa. The day after the election in Manitoba it was said on every hand that four out of five of the people were satisfied with disallowance; the same will be said of the Northwest if Conservatives are elected. He then attempted to allay whatever alarm his napoleonic statements may have caused by saying that the Northwest was bound to prosper. No party or government in Canada had placed a block in the way of the C. P. R. Some dare cripple it. He then asked the Senate by showing how short a time it took them to do their work. After a year's long list of contemptuous epithets that they referred to the Northwest Council, which he said was as bad as the Senate—the members being nominated by the Government. This body had been put over the people by the Conservatives and the way to escape from it was by sending to Ottawa a man opposed to the Government. The Reform party had an alternative policy on every question affecting the Northwest, and the people should give the reins of power into their hands so that they could save it from utter ruin. (Cheers and groans.)

MR. RY. BLEEKER was received with tremendous applause. He said the province of Mr. Preston here was a great mistake. That gentleman had stamped various constituencies in Ontario and they had all gone Conservative; he visited Alabama and the chances were it would go the same; he came on to Alberta and the Conservatives were assured of a swinging victory here. (Cheers.) If he had known that such a broken down, decrepit country as Mr. Preston painted it to be was as fast as the country (Laughter). Mr. P.'s speech was no more prepared for delivery in Ontario to show the people there how the N. W. was ruined. Everybody here knew his statements were untrue. The country was prosperous; the speaker had prospered and he saw hundreds of men in the hall who had prospered and became wealthy in the country. The present Government had ruined us all we have, yet Mr. Preston said only need Dr. Lafferty to Ottawa and he will get everything for us. He showed how grossly false were Mr. Preston's statements in regard to settlement. A few years ago there was scarcely a house between here and High River; now there are hundreds of settlers. He didn't think his opponent had told these lies willfully; he had been misinformed. Probably Mr. Martin had posted him with untruths, though why he should do so was not apparent for he of all men had prospered in the country and where (Grits prosper who can't P. (Grits cheering). He showed the maliciousness of Mr. Preston's statement that there were only a certain number of settlers on a certain tract of country along the railway. There were more settlers in Calgary district alone than the number he gave for a vast extent of country. The only object of such a statement was to injure the country abroad. If Blake had been in power there would have been no settlers here except Sam Livingston and a few others. He reviewed the history of the C. P. R. showing how tactless was the opposition the Grits gave to the scheme, even following Sir John to the English markets to depreciate the credit of the country. (Grits cheering). He dwelt on the fact that this was the first time a Grit had shown any solicitude about the Northwest. Hereafter they had sought to make capital in the east by decrying the Northwest. Now they wanted our votes and they came up here and made all kinds of rash promises. He challenged Mr. Preston to say that the Liberal party, if in power, would do away with leases. The two townships in the Cochrane lease could be settled for now and the settler's time will count from the day he goes on there. He pointed out the discrepancy between Dr. Lafferty's platform and policies and those of Mr. Preston. The former was not a straight party man, at least he said so; Mr. Preston, would a man sent to Ottawa who would fight the Government to the death and end. Mr. Preston would fall in an attempt to do up disallowance and disallowance were the same country was added from west to the other in the land and the Government had done justice to the country as far as possible. Mr. Bleeker then entered into a comparison of the two candidates. He showed how Dr. Lafferty had hesitated to invest in Calgary, had not even a house of his own here, and had advised people not to rashly invest here. He also set himself against the workmen and voted to reduce wages. He had sprung from the C. P. R. into the town and tried to run it, but failing in that he formed the Northwest League which lived two days (Great laughter). Now, he assumed that if the people did not elect Dr. Lafferty and say he was the greatest man in the Northwest he would leave the country in disgust. (Laughter.) Yet, he said, Mr. Davis presented. He had 30 years among us, had always received the highest wages, had spent his life here, he was in every way more fitted to represent us. Our interests were safe and secure in his hands (groans). On the contrary the Grits were always ready to sacrifice the country for the sake of gaining power, and they decied it as Mr. Preston had done for the sake of causing discontent under the present administration. Mr. Preston had not touched on the public debt or the financial condition of the country, though in the past that was one of their favorite topics. Of course they all knew that the public debt was more than represented by our public works. He ridiculed Mr. Preston's statement that Ontario was yearning to bear our taxation. If that was so he (the speaker) would become a Grit. (Laughter.) It was well known what Blake's policy was. He cried out that the Northwest was a terrible burden to Ontario, and would not justify the expenditure. Sir John said: "You will cost us a good deal of money now, but in ten years we will get it all back in increased revenues." (Long cheers.) The funniest thing about Mr. Preston's attack on the Northwest Council was the fact that the Mackenzie Government had given us that institution. (Laughter.) In regard to the Bow bridge he knew the people here appreciated the action of the Government. The only cause of delay was the local squabble as to whether it should be located on section 16 or at the site now chosen (hear, hear). In conclusion he advised them to elect Mr. Davis, whose interests were wrapped up with those of the homesteader and who had at heart their interests. (Loud and prolonged cheering.)

MR. T. W. JACKSON, of Qu'Appelle, said he had been asked to represent Mr. Hardisty at the meeting. He agreed to do so on the understanding that he would not be expected to speak of either Mr. Davis or Mr. Hardisty personally, but to deal merely with the two political parties. He made a powerful and animated speech and was repeatedly cheered to the echo. His criticism of Mr. Preston and the methods of the Reform party was so strong and telling that he was repeatedly interrupted by rowdies on and off the platform. It was like throwing a shingle against the wind, however, to try and stop him from saying what he wanted to. His ready wit and keen sarcasm left deep wounds in the feelings of several who attempted to interrupt him. He first pointed out that Mr. Preston had not enunciated a single plank of the Reform policy; he had not said a word in support of his party; the burden of his whole song was abuse of the Conservative Government. His platform and that of the Grits was to tear down everything that Sir John's Government had built up, to bring the country into utter ruin (hear, hear). They cared not for the settlers' wrongs, all they wanted was place and power. On the other hand friends of the Conservative party had repeatedly pointed out defects in the laws and had them remedied. The speaker had done this and the Grits seized on it as condemnation of the Government, whereas no man could say that he had gone back on his party or cast anything but a Conservative vote in his life. At the present time nearly all our grievances have been redressed, and he challenged Mr. Preston to go on any Indian reserve and find the slightest fault in the administration of Indian affairs. (Applause). The present condition of the Indians was satisfactory to all. He defended the Northwest Council and showed what a help the nominated members had been to the country. They were able and honorable men and their judicial training threw an inestimable safeguard around the legislation of the Council. Nor were they opposed to popular government. They had voted with the elected members on a memorial, which was really a protest, setting forth the grievances of the Northwest settlers, and on the resolution asking the Dominion government to grant responsible government to the Territories. He deprecated the different attempts of the Grit organizers to stir up discontent in the provinces' community. What though, we had slight difficulties to contend with? All new countries had them. Did our fathers had in Ontario more hate and animosity all ready for them? (Grits cheering). We Canadians were made of the stuff to fight along, and we would go along despite the pious wailings of our discontented politicians. In regard to disallowance he believed that not even the Grits dare legislate away the rights of the C. P. R., but at the same time the present government were doing all in their power to induce the company to give up the rights contained in that clause of the charter. Mr. Preston showed his disregard of truth when he said rates four, five, ten and fifteen times as high as eastern rates were charged by the C. P. R. in the west. (Cheers). He then criticized Dr. Lafferty's platform; clause by clause, and knocked it into a cocked hat. He showed the insincerity of the Grit candidate and held up to ridicule his anxiety to catch votes by incorporating in his platform every imaginable plank that could please anybody. He dealt with the national debt briefly, showing that the Mackenzie administration had increased it at the rate of $100,000 a year, while Sir John had increased it about $3,000,000. Then when in power paid as much interest on the debt as it was then as the Conservative government does on the present debt. (Cheers.) Mr. Jackson's tirade, but the audience insisted on his going on at further length, and at last he reluctantly allowed him to take his seat. A move was made towards the speaker. Mr. Preston arose to reply but he spoke with such vehemence and passion that a good many remained in anticipation of a disturbance, but the Grit organizers gave vent to his fury only in words. He forgot to reply to the arguments of Messrs. Bleeker and Jackson, and launched forth into torrents of coarse and brutal abuse of both those gentlemen. At one time he flourished a roll of bills in the faces of the audience, his evident intention being to convey the impression that money would talk on polling day. It is hoped that for honor's sake Dr. Lafferty will repudiate the words and actions of this unwelcome intruder who has made such a disgraceful exposition of Liberal principles. Mr. Preston talked till the crowd got tired, notwithstanding his promise to give Mr. Bleeker a chance to explain a question that he had raised, and the meeting broke up with cheers for "the chieftian" and Mr. Davis.

The Calgary Herald.

FRIDAY, MARCH 11 1887.

OF LOCAL INTEREST.

THE C. P. R. are boarding about 100 passengers between here and Field, free of expense.

Owing to the extra work required to change the size of this Weekly edition, THE DAILY HERALD is not issued today. Daily subscribers will receive the WEEKLY which contains today's telegrams and other late news.

At the Royal—T. J. Brady, Bank; Jas. Johnson, Cashier; Mr. Stephenson, Cashier; John McDougall, Morley; E. B. Glass, Battle River; P. B. Richardson, Gleichen; R. C. Stanfield, J. J. O'Connor, Mr. Lewis, C. P. R.

MR. FRED WHITE, the comptroller of the N. P., has bought from Rev. Father Lacombe, on the mission property, one of the largest and finest lots on Notre Dame and St. Joseph avenues. A good many people are making investments on the mission property.

NEARLY all the through passengers who have been sojourning at Field have come down to Calgary to escape the danger of starving to death. The food supply at Field has about given out, and it is probable that there will be some very hungry people up there before the road is opened.

MR. S. PARRISH, of this town, has received information that the executive of the Colonial Exhibition have forwarded a medal as a recognition of the excellence of several samples of oats, peas, wheat and barley which the firm of Parrish & Son sent to the exhibition. The medal is of most beautiful design, and very valuable. Messrs. Parrish & Son are noted for good seeds and seed grain.

SUPP. VAN ZINN has issued a notice that all west-bound passenger trains will be cancelled at Moose Jaw and freight trains at Canmore until further notice. A passenger train arrived from Canmore this morning, but she will not proceed east till tomorrow at noon. No notice has been received since Monday. It seems strange that there should be no trains when we have such delightful weather here.

(From Saturday's Daily.)

BUILDING operations are going on rapidly throughout the town.

Did anybody think there wasn't going to be any fine weather this year?

STOCKMEN agree that this has been a grand winter for Indians and coyotes.

FRANK DICK has a single board 46 inches wide and 20 feet long. It came from British Columbia.

MR. J. G. FITZ GERALD returned last night from Macleod. He had a tolerably good trip though the snow is pretty deep.

MESSRS. DUNN & LINNAM are bringing in dressed beef from Manitoba. This is another of the anomalies of a ranching country.

A CAR LOAD of freight shipped from Brandon last Monday, reached here yesterday. If the C. P. R. keeps up that record there will be fewer complaints on the part of shippers.

MR. BOYD, of Sheep Creek, is in town. He says they have lost only 5 per cent. of their bunch of 4,500 sheep this winter. Messrs. Pettapiece & Potter have lost 10 per cent.; they have 4,000 head.

A LOAD of lumber for the sidewalk has been put in front of Acting Mayor Martin's door, just to keep him from getting too anxious about it. He thinks the sidewalk should be laid before the streets get ice and dry in the spring.

THE committee of citizens appointed in connection with the departure of Dr. Henderson, waited on that gentleman yesterday and asked if he would accept a banquet and testimonial for Mrs. Henderson. The Doctor expressed his deep thanks and accepted the banquet but declined the testimonial.

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

MR. H. D. BROWN has returned from the west.

CHICKENS must be feminine; they are so easy and full.

Did anybody ever know such a delightfully changeable climate?

The dinner to Dr. Henderson has been postponed till Saturday night.

The frame of Mr. Sharpley's new building opposite the Herald office is being raised today.

MR. H. J. HARRIS, of Canmore, who was against Campbell in Kent, in the recent election, is in town.

MR. HARRIS, who was very low a few days ago, is now reported as being considerably better and hopes are entertained of her recovery.

THE passengers on the train which ran off the track yesterday morning, tendered, through Mr. T. M. Blackwood, their heartfelt thanks to Mr. Martin, the government of the Royal, for sending down to them a plentiful supply of provisions. Hotel provisions are not always so kind and thoughtful.

THE train which is due to-night is off the track a short distance this side of Macleod. Bucking snow was the cause. The engineer is reported to be seriously injured.

MR. JOHN MURK, who is employed by Billy Mitchell, while getting out timber about thirty miles up the Elbow was caught by a falling tree and had a collar bone broken, besides other injuries. Mr. Lindsay, of the fractured bone. Mr. Munn is cousin of the late John Glass, well-known to the inhabitants of Alberta.

AMONG the passengers by last night's delayed train were the following: A. Weir, Mr. Preston, Toronto; G. Travis, Medicine Hat; A. A. Mackenzie, J. H. Ashdown, Wm. Harrgrave, A. Wickson, F. Chilcott, Winnipeg; H. Smith, Chatham; T. W. Jackson, Qu'Appelle; Fred White, Ottawa; Jas. Crawford, Victoria; T. Stephenson, Mr. Smith, Vancouver; J. Lipscombe, White River.

AFTER the regular business had been disposed of last night the Masons adjourned to the Board of Trade restaurant, where they entertained their worthy brother, Dr. Henderson, to an oyster supper. The banquet was prepared in the most elegant style, and consequently were done ample justice to. A few impromptu speeches and songs added to the jollity of the occasion, and the Doctor was sent home feeling very proud of his brother Masons.

MR. W. S. RUTHERFORD, of the B. A. rancho, was in from Cochrane yesterday. He says their sheep have wintered splendidly and the loss is only about one per cent. This is most encouraging and shows the result of having plenty of feed. Mr. Rutherford thinks there is nothing to fear in the kind of winter we have had this year and sees no reason why sheep farming will not be very successful here. In Scotland Mr. Rutherford has dog sheep out of 23 feet of snow in April.

(From Wednesday's Daily.)

TENDERS have been called for the building of the Bow River bridge.

THE Lethbridge News will occupy its own office soon. This is good news.

MR. W. T. R. PRISTON, is now distinguished by the high-sounding title "producer of moral victories."

MR. TRAVIS occupies nearly a column in the St. John, N. B., Sun, defending his actions in the Northwest. Letters from the late Bishop of Saskatchewan and Rev. Mr. Betts are quoted.

The Council met last night in Council Chamber, when the report of Messrs. Variett and McCulloch as to the work done in the Northwest was read. It was decided to have one of them taken out and examined.

DR. HENDERSON has received a telegram from Mr. Egan to the effect that the continued cold weather is interfering with the commencement of construction work and that it will probably be some weeks before operations commence. Consequently the Doctor will remain a few days longer than he intended.

THE object of Mr. Fred White's visit to Calgary is to make arrangements for enlarging and extending the police barracks. Among the improvements will be a new hospital and new stables. Probably the present men's quarters will be turned into stables and new buildings erected for the former. The work will be proceeded with very soon.

ACTING MAYOR MARTIN and Councilor Shelton waited on Deputy Minister Mr. Fred White this morning with a view to getting a grant from the police reserve of a road allowance between the former and the railway track. Mr. White acted most liberally and agreed to give the town possession of a strip of land alongside the C. P. R. allowance not less than 100 feet wide at any point and spreading out to a much greater breadth at the river, so that the traffic bridge can be placed as far as possible from the railway. A fence will be erected by the police at once.

(From Thursday's Daily.)

MR. H. COXSON, of the C. P. R., Winnipeg, is in town.

MR. PRISTON can now bet on the Algonia election and lose every time.

WHEN will the Tribune find out that Henry Ward Beecher is dead? Next Christmas.

THERE was no spectrum of the Comet last night. A meeting will be held to-morrow night.

DR. LINDSAY has been appointed surgeon of the C. P. R. yards here. Dr. Lindsay is also acting as surgeon to the N. W. M. P., and it is likely that he will be permanently appointed to the position.

Dr. Clark's Sansaparilla with iodine of Potash and Stillinger has yet to meet a case of scrofula, or any other blood or skin disease it cannot cure.

SOME OF OUR VISITORS.

There was a lively scene at the Royal last night after the arrival of the delayed train. It took two pages of the newspaper to hold the names of the newly arrived guests and the dining room had to be put in order twice before all were regaled. It reminded one of the Winnipeg boom days and that was the only sad feature about it. Several Winnipeggers among the throng helped to make it all the more boom-like. There was Mr. Harrgrave, the genial postmaster general of the Hub, who always has a joke to crack or a funny story to tell. He is out on a trip for his health, though any one who hears his jolly laugh would not imagine that his health was suffering to any great extent. He intends honoring Banff Springs with his presence for a week or two. His running mate on this occasion is "Jimmy" Ashdown, one of Winnipeg's merchant princes and a rising politician. He is a genial and wholehearted gentleman—small in stature but large of heart. He and the P. O. make a great team; but they were kept well in hand by the austere Fred Chilcott, who insisted on a proper degree of decorum being maintained. Mr. James Crawford and Mr. T. W. Jackson, of Qu'Appelle, two patriarchal looking gentlemen, looked after the spiritual wants of the party, while Mr. Preston, of Toronto, a campaign orator, and Mr. Hugh Smith, the defeated of Kent, discussed the N. P. for the general edification of the party. Mr. Fred White stood ready to summon the police in case of hostile manifestations, but there were none. It is not quite certain who was the Jonah on board that caused the delay, but occasionally a black bottle was fired overboard with beneficial results and Calgary was reached with flying colors.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

In a few days, the 17th of March, it will be St. Patrick, the holy and grand patron saint of the Irish people, all over the world. Therefore Rev. Father Lacombe, the parish priest of St. Mary of Calgary, and great friend of St. Patrick, informs us to call for a meeting of all the Irishmen of this place and round, to assemble at his house, next Sunday evening, after, service at 8 o'clock, to organize a beginning to the Society of St. Patrick, with the patriotic Erin go Bragh.

THE BOW BRIDGE.

The Grate Trying to Cast Doubt on the Sincerity of the Government.

Some of the Grifts are circulating a report that the Government do not intend building the Bow bridge and that the plans have not been received. In reply to this we give the following telegram which was received by Mr. Donnelly this morning:

OTTAWA, March 10.

L. F. W. Donnelly, Calgary. The plans and specifications of the Bow River bridge will be sent to you in time to be exhibited to intending contractors by the date specified in the advertisement, namely the 17th inst. A. GUBELL, Secretary Public Works Department.

WANTED—A young lady desires a situation as companion, or governess in young child. Address A. G. Herald office, 4357.

NOTICE.
